UNIT GUIDE

Year and Semester:	2011, Semester 2
Unit convenors:	Patricia Blazey and Kay-Wah Chan
Prerequisites:	BUSL201 or BUSL250
Credit points:	3

Students in this unit should read this unit guide carefully at the start of semester. It contains important information about the unit. If anything in it is unclear, please consult one of the teaching staff in the unit.

ABOUT THIS UNIT

- Unit description: Students will be given an overview of Chinese laws that are relevant to foreign trade and foreign investment in China and conduct a critical analysis of these laws.
- Unit rationale: The unit has two principal aims: (1) to introduce students to the current Chinese legal system; and (2) for students to study in detail some aspects of Chinese commercial law, particularly law in relation to foreign investment and foreign trade. We do this by moving from a brief introduction to Chinese legal history and investment environment in China to an examination of a number of important areas of foreign-related Chinese commercial law. Before we do this however, it is important to understand the culture of business and the Five-Year Plans in China. This underpins all the learning in this subject and will be dealt with in the first lecture. The unit covers the topics as listed below. After having completed the unit, students should have an understanding of the underlying principles of the Chinese legal system and some main areas of law relating to foreign investment and trade in China. Furthermore, students will have some exposure to the rules or principles, which affect commercial transactions with China.
