UNIT OUTLINE

Semester 1, 2007

Unit Objectives

The objective of this unit is to provide an overview of the process of personal financial planning and to equip students with the basic skills necessary to analyse an individual's situation. Specifically, on completion of the course, students should be able to demonstrate:-

1. The ability to evaluate issues in the context of knowledge gained and to apply developed skills in problem solving for financial planning scenarios.
2. An application of some of the basic skills required in assessing an individual's financial position
3. An understanding of the relevance of taxes and investments and their application in personal financial planning.
4. The ability to engage in a meaningful discussion of the importance of superannuation in the provision of income in retirement.
5. An appreciation of risk analysis.
6. An ability to present independent conclusions based on an analysis of an individual's financial position.

LEARNING OBJECTIVES

Teaching Format

There will be eleven lectures of 3 hours (practical, theory and guest lecturers), and a final exam. Assessment will also include individual assignments, a group project and class presentation

The lectures will be held on Friday afternoon from 2pm to 5pm and students will be required to do some reading and preparatory work prior to each lecture.

All students will be assigned to present on a topical issue relating to a part of a unit topic, Students may have to present more than once at some stage throughout the course. Each presentation should last 5 minutes, following which students will have opportunity to question the presenters. These presentations will count towards the unit's assessment.

Emphasis in class will be given to real life experiences and to the areas of most appropriate practical consideration raised in the material studied for the week. Worked examples will also be discussed and students will have opportunity for other involvement in class presentations and class discussions.

The final exam will be on Friday the 8th of June, 2007 (2-5PM) and the final exam will be held at the regular lecture place at E4B316.

The group projects will be collected on Friday 1st of June, 2007

This group project will require the written presentation of an analysis of a specific case study. The projects will be performed in groups of no more than 2 students and the cover sheet must be typed and contain the name of each student in the group. As indicated, that project must be submitted in hard copy a word document soft copy format by Friday 1st of June, 2007 no later than 2.15 PM.

RELATIONSHIP BETWEEN ASSESSMENT & LEARNING OUTCOMES

The assessment tasks will provide opportunity for students to present their views on various aspects of financial planning and to analyse case studies and develop strategies.

Learning Outcomes

The learning outcomes of this unit are that students will be able to:

1. Understand, apply and explain the workings of the Australian taxation system, specifically in relation to individuals and superannuation funds.
2. Indicate the ability to analyse investment alternatives and present a valid argument for or against those alternatives.
3. Indicate an understanding of the impact of superannuation, compliance, social security and estate planning on the financial planning process.
4. Analyse case studies and develop strategies which are appropriate in achieving an individual's desired financial planning outcome.

Examination

The only exception to not sitting an examination at the designated time is because of documented illness or unavoidable disruption. In these circumstances you may wish to consider applying for Special Consideration. Information about unavoidable disruption and special consideration process is available at:

<http://www.reg.mq.edu.au/Forms/APSCon.pdf>.

Plagiarism

The University defines plagiarism in its rules: "Plagiarism involves using the work of another person and presenting it as one's own". Plagiarism is a serious breach of the University's rules and carries significant penalties. You must read the University's practices and procedures on plagiarism. These can be found in the Handbook of Postgraduate Studies or on the web at:

<http://www.student.mq.edu.au/plagiarism/>

The policies and procedures explain what plagiarism is, how to avoid it, the procedures that will be taken in cases of suspected plagiarism and the penalties if you are found guilty. Penalties may include a deduction of marks, failure in the unit, and/or referral to the University Discipline Committee.

University Policy on Grading

Academic Senate has a set of guidelines on the distribution of grades across the range from fail to high distinction. Your final result will include one of these grades plus a standardised numerical grade (SNG).

On occasion your raw mark for a unit (i.e. the total of your marks for each assessment item) may not be the same as the SNG which you receive. Under the Senate guidelines, results may be scaled to ensure that there is a degree of comparability across the university, so that units with the same past performances of their students should achieve similar results.

It is important that you realise that the policy does not require that a minimum number of students are to be failed in any unit.

The process of scaling does not change the order of marks among students. A student who receives a higher raw mark than another will also receive a higher final scaled mark.

For an explanation of the policy see:
