TEACHING AND LEARNING STRATEGY

Each class will meet weekly for a 3 hour seminar during the semester. All scheduled classes are compulsory. In between classes, students are required to work through the relevant module(s) in the CPA program, CPA115 segment module, as well as work on assessment tasks.

Students are expected to fully study the course material and recommended readings of each CPA Module. You are encouraged to properly construct your own notes based on your reading, any additional comments, and supplements.

Each class will consist of an overview and discussion of the main content, concepts and issues from the relevant CPA115 Module topics. In addition, other activities will take place that seek to enhance and enrich understanding of the content, the readings and any accounting standards related to each module. This will include working through questions in the CPA material and discussing articles or actual financial statements that help demonstrate the topic more fully.

Students may be given an outline or material related to the topic by the lecturer, however it is important to understand that these are only intended to be used as an overview and guide.

(a) In Class Group Presentation (10%)

In the week commencing August 8th, each student will be assigned to a group of no more than 4 students. Each group will then be allocated a topic by the lecturer. The assigned topics will focus on a key aspect of a concept and its application within Modules 1 to 7. You will not be able to change from the group or the topic that you have been assigned.

The group presentations will all take place in the week commencing October 17th. The group presentation should be no longer than 5 minutes in length and all students in the group must participate in the presentation. The marks for this group presentation will be split between the validity of the technical content (6 marks) and the appropriateness of the communication performed (4 marks). Each student in the group will receive the same mark awarded for the group presentation. It is very important that each student actively participates in the preparation and delivery of the presentation.

If you do not attend the class for your group presentation, no marks will be awarded to the individual student for this component.

(b) Mid Semester Exam – Modules 1 to 4 only (20%)

A mid semester exam will be held on Saturday September 10th in the afternoon for all classes. It will consist of a combination of multiple choice questions and short answer questions. The objective of this assessment is to test the technical application of accounting standards. On the week commencing September 19th, you will receive a feedback summary sheet of your marks by question by module. All questions and answers will be reviewed in class, with the focus on those areas where people most struggled. You actual exam paper will not be returned.

This first test is an early diagnostic assessment, the results of which will be indicative of the student’s application to achieving the learning outcomes of the unit. Students who achieve poor results in this test should consult the teaching staff regarding strategies for improving their performance.
(c) Final Semester Exam – Modules 5 to 7 only (20%)

A final semester exam will be held on Saturday October 15th in the afternoon for all classes. It will consist of a combination of multiple choice questions and short answer questions. The objective of this assessment is to test the technical application of accounting standards. On the week commencing October 17th, you will receive a feedback summary sheet of your marks by question by module. All questions and answers will be reviewed in class, with the focus on those areas where people most struggled. You actual exam paper will not be returned.

(d) Individual Assignment (20%)

Specific details of the requirements of the assignment will be provided to you in class on the week commencing August 22nd. You will be provided with information regarding a company that you currently work for in the capacity of a recently qualified financial accountant. You will be asked to prepare an email to the Financial Controller commenting on three aspects:

- Several technical issues that will be given and their financial reporting and disclosure implications for the current year financial statements;
- Review of completeness of disclosures made in the current year financial statements and
- Challenges in certain information required for financial statement preparation.

A session with the Centre for Macquarie English (CME), formerly NCELTR, will be held in class in the week commencing August 22nd to advise on appropriate communication and language skills in preparing such an email for the Financial Controller. The CME lecturer will focus on four main aspects of effective communication: Structure, Written Expression, Tone and Presentation. The assignment is due on October 11th by 5.00pm.

The marks for this assignment will be split between the validity of the technical content (15 marks) and the appropriateness of the communication performed (5 marks). You will receive two summary sheets of marks for the assignment. One will be of the technical marks, summarised by aspect (i.e. technical issue, disclosure completeness and challenges in financial statement preparation) and the other summary sheet with comments will be from CME on the four aspects of effective communication, providing you with your total assignment mark. You will receive back the CME marked up version of your assignment for personal reference and we will go through the expected technical points in class on week commencing October 17th.

The objective of the assignment is to understand the technical application of accounting standards as they apply to financial reporting and the consequences of management decision making and data collection.
