Potential Areas for Research in General Insurance

Increased hurricane activity, the threat of pandemics, the credit crunch...
These are just some of the major issues facing insurance companies today.
Rosi Winn, Andy White and David Koob will talk about the major issues facing the insurance industry and actuarial profession in Australia today.

Rosi Winn is a director at PwC with extensive experience in general insurance. She is particularly interested in workers compensation schemes, commercial lines pricing and climate change as it affects the insurance industry.

David Koob works for Allianz Australia and is interested in capital and risk.

Andy White is manager of capital modelling for QBE Australia and Asia Pacific. He previously worked in general insurance pricing in London. His main interest is in behavioural finance and the impact of humans on actuarial work.
