MACQUARIE UNIVERSITY
FACULTY OF BUSINESS AND ECONOMICS
UNIT GUIDE

Year and Semester:	Semester 1, 2012
Unit convenor:	Jonathan Lim
Prerequisites:	ECON200 or ECON203
Credit points:	3

Students in this unit should read this unit guide carefully at the start of semester. It contains important information about the unit. If anything in it is unclear, please consult one of the teaching staff in the unit.

ABOUT THIS UNIT

In standard economic theory, markets exist to allocate and distribute a nation's wealth through the process of exchange. The way in which a society organises these markets and the purposes to which the resulting structures are put, cannot be understood without in turn comprehending the way in which industries are organised within that economy, specifically the contractual arrangements that facilitate economic exchange. This unit analyses markets, firms and government as simply three different institutional or governance structures that serve to accomplish given economic objectives. The issue then becomes not which one should be utilised, but which is the most efficient mix. The actual mix chosen depends upon the comparative transaction costs of using each one.

CLASSES

- Lectures:

Wednesday 11am-2pm; W5A T1 Theatre

Thursday 6pm-9pm; E5A120 Theatre

- The teaching format for this class is one 3-hour session per week. The 3 hour session will typically consist of a 2 hour formal lecture and 1 hour workshop/tutorial. The workshop/tutorial will be a time where the lecture material will be discussed with a range of questions from both students and staff.
- It is essential that students attend all sessions, as the examination/tests will focus on material discussed in the lectures and supplemented with the relevant readings.
- The timetable for classes can be found on the University web site at: <http://www.timetables.mq.edu.au/>

REQUIRED AND RECOMMENDED TEXTS AND/OR MATERIALS

- Church, J. and R. Ware 2000, Industrial Organization: A strategic approach, McGraw-Hill, Boston (This text is available online (free of charge) at: <http://homepages.ucalgary.ca/~jrchurch/page4/page4.html>)

Please note other books also cover the material at a similar level and could be useful background or additional reading. These books include:

- Luis Cabral Introduction to Industrial Organization, MIT Press, Cambridge, 2000 (Cabral)
- Shy, O. 1995, Industrial Organization, MIT Press, Cambridge (Shy)
- Pepall, L., D Richards and G. Norman 2008, Industrial Organization: Contemporary Theory and Empirical Applications, 4th Edition, South-Western, Mason. (Pepall et al)

For a more advanced treatment of the material covered in this course you may want to consider the following books:

- Belleflamme, P. and M. Peitz 2010, Industrial Organization: Industrial Organization: Markets and Strategies, Cambridge University Press, New York.
- Tirole, J. 1988, The Theory of Industrial Organization, MIT Press, Cambridge

UNIT WEB PAGE

Course material is available on the learning management system (iLearn). The web page for this unit can be found at: <https://ilearn.mq.edu.au/login/MQ/>

Students should check this site regularly for announcements, test results and lecture material.

LEARNING OUTCOMES

The learning outcomes of this unit are:

1. Understand how markets allocate and generate surplus.
2. Understand the role of the firm in the economic system and analyse what determines the boundaries of a firm
3. Use economic models to critically analyse the relationship between market structure and market outcomes.
4. Use game theoretic tools to analyse firm strategy concerning output and pricing decisions
5. Making use of appropriate economic models, analyse firm behaviour in dynamic scenarios (that is, timing of actions is important)

GRADUATE CAPABILITIES

This unit contributes to this by developing the following graduate capabilities:

1. Discipline Specific Knowledge and Skills*
2. Critical, Analytical and Integrative Thinking
3. Problem Solving and Research Capability
4. Creative and Innovative

5. Effective Communication
6. Engaged and Ethical Local and Global citizens
7. Socially and Environmentally Active and Responsible
8. Capable of Professional and Personal Judgement and Initiative
9. Commitment to Continuous Learning

LEARNING AND TEACHING ACTIVITIES

- ECON309 will consist of two (2) within session tests (30%), one group work project (20%) and a 2 hour final examination (50%) during the official examination period. All lecture material and readings will be examinable in the final examination.
- It is expected that students read in advance and actively participate in discussion in the lecture.

Unit Assessments

(a) Class Tests (30%)

There will be 2 in session exams for this unit. Test 1 (15%) test will be held in the first hour of lectures in week 6. Test 2 (15%) will be held in the first hour of lectures in Week 11. Each test will be of 1 hour duration. Details of the structure and topics covered will be announced closer to the date.

It is important to note that absence from class tests will result in a mark of zero, unless a student's absence is supported by acceptable documented evidence. In this case, the final exam mark will be converted to a higher percentage of the total marks.

(b) Project Work (20%)

For the project work you will be randomly assigned into groups in Week 3 (no more than 5 students) to write up a strategy statement for any firm of your choosing. This statement will be no more than one page. Accompanying this statement is a report supporting the logic advanced in the strategy statement. This should include a description of the firm and its environment. A SWOT analysis maybe be useful in this context, accordingly in describing your logic you should utilise relevant economic theory to support the logic you have advanced. Ideally, as part of the description you should include the potential issues that the firm faces and more importantly how the firm could better advance their competitive position.

Your report should draw on information and ideas from other sources besides the lectures in the course and your grade will be determined by the additional value you add upon the existing material. The key is to apply the insights drawn from the models to the organization you have selected. In short if you reproduce the analysis or model as applied in class you will achieve no better than a pass. You don't need to invent a new model (though this will be favourable viewed) but remember that if you use someone else's model to reference and credit their work. In fact you should explain it in your own words and accordingly cite. Failure to do so constitute a serious form of Plagiarism.

Groups will need to submit their group report by week 12 in lectures. The word limit for this report will be no more than 2000 words. Late submission will attract a penalty of 10% or the total mark each day. Exceeding 2000 words will attract a penalty of 10% for every 10% above word limit. All members will receive the same mark; however this may vary according to the peer assessment report which must be submitted confidentially by each member.

The groups will be allocated in lectures in Week 3 and published online in Week 4. In week 5, further details of the project will be provided in a separate document on the ilearn website. This document will specify precisely the companies involved, logistics and submission details.

(c) Final examination (50%)

The Final Examination will be for 2 hour duration. This examination will be held during the official Macquarie University examination period. Details of the structure will be announced in due course. .

IMPORTANT NOTICE ON FINAL EXAM

Students MUST pass the FINAL EXAMINATION in order to satisfactorily complete an economics unit. Failure to fulfil this condition will involve automatic failure in the unit.

Note: It is also Macquarie University policy NOT to set early examinations for individual or groups of students. All students are expected to ensure that they are available until the end of the teaching semester; that is the final day of the official examination period. Therefore, please DO NOT REQUEST an earlier exam.

RESEARCH AND PRACTICE

- This unit gives you practice in applying research findings in your assignments
- This unit gives you opportunities to conduct your own research
